

Greece, Europe, and Institutions During the Interwar Era: Refugee Settlement, Economic Crisis, and Rationalization of the State. Edited by C. P. Brégianni (Athens: Alfeios, 2026). In Greek.

Contents (Preliminary translation)

Introductory Section

1. Introductory Remarks: International Institutions and Transfers in Addressing Interwar Social and Economic Crises (p. 11)
Katerina Bregianni

PART I – The Diachronic Model of Epidemics Through the Sources: Health Crises and Population Movements

2. Pandemics and Locality: The 1918 Influenza in Patras and the Representation of Its Economic and Social Impacts in Archival Material (p. 29)
Nikos Tompros
3. The Health Crisis in Kavala During the Arrival of Refugees (1922–1924) (p. 47)
Giorgos Koutzakiotis

PART II – Collective Subjects and Refugee Identities: Socio-Economic Characteristics and the Construction of Memory

4. Refugee Settlement and Institutional Modernization (p. 79)
Margareta Dritsa
5. Reconstructing the Social Characteristics of Asia Minor Refugees of 1922 and Demographic Variables of their Settlement (p. 105)
6. Refugee Experience, Memory, and Appropriation of Space: The Case of Asia Minor Refugees in Interwar Greece (p. 133)
Ioannis Karachristos
7. Cinematic Representations of the Displaced: The Greek Case of 1922 (p. 151)
Manolis Arkolakis

PART III – The Great Depression and Greece: Quantitative Dimensions and Regional Perspectives

8. The Greek Economy, the Crisis of the 1930s, and Kondratiev Cycles (p. 167)
Lefteris Tsoulfidis
9. Towards a Serial History of Public Finances: Assessing Quantitative Data with Emphasis on Interwar Public Expenditure (p. 189)
Antonis Antoniou

PART IV – Formation and Rationalization of the Greek State: The Reception of Innovation

10. Financial Formations of the Greek State and the Diffusion of French Expertise: The Mandate of the “Empirical Economist” Arthémond de Regny During the

Governance of Ioannis Kapodistrias (1831–1832) (p. 221)

George Kalpadakis

11. Technological Innovation and Its Reception in Greece Before the Interwar Period:
The Case of Electrification (p. 231)

Katerina Bregianni

12. The Transfer of Economic Thought in Interwar Greece: The Establishment of the Athens School of Economics and Business and the Innovative Archive of Economic and Social Sciences (p. 243)

Christos Baloglou

DOCUMENTARY ANNEXE

13. Sources for a Transnational History of Interwar Southeastern Europe: Statistical Data in an International Context (p. 267)

Michalis Sarras

Back Matter

Abstracts (p. 281)

Biographical Notes on Contributors (p. 287)

List of Tables and Figures (p. 293)

Index of Persons (p. 297)